MUSICAL EVENING AT ASSEMBLY TONIGHT TOLLEFSEN AND LUND

COMEDY MOVING PICTURES WILL ALSO BE SHOWN AFTER THE CONCERT.

DORNBLASER AND EVANS TALK

Last Evening and This Afternoon Assembly Goes Through Fine Lectures.

Dixonites will be entertained if they venture out to the assembly tonight. The Tollefsen Trio and Mrs. Charlotte Lund, who gave an entertainment this afternoon, will render a complete program this evening at 8 o'clock. This will be a rare treat.

Immediately after the concert Mr. Robor will give an excellent comedy picture, instead of "Buenos Aires" as advertised.

Evans Pleases.

Dr. Arthur Evans, who delivered his lecture "What America Means to Me," last night made a fine impression upon a large audience.

There are many men twice the age of Dr. Evans who have many memories of famous Europeans which he can claim. Beside his relationship to Minister Lloyd-George, he has seen Gladstone, near whose home he lived as a boy, and whom he visited with his father.

The lecturer defines Americanism in one word, fraternalism, or brotherhood of man.

The Dornblaser Lecture

This afternoon Dr. T. F. Dornblaser of Chicago entertained a good sized audience with his interesting lecture "Our Duty Toward Mexico." As the speaker defined it, that duty is to get more information on Mexico; get acquainted with Mexico and her people.

The lecturer went into details concerning Mexico, her resources, land, products, people, mineral wealth, etc.

Dr. Dornblaser reviewed the condition of Mexico and said that, owing to the war with the central powers, Mexican conditions must not be forgotten and neglected, that there is still trouble between those people and our country. The officers in control on the border have ordered their soldiers not to shoot in the air, but shoot to kill, if they shoot at all.

The speaker traveled a large portion of Mexico and described the life and conditions of Indians and natives who have been educated. President Grant said "Do not kill these people, but go into Mexico and educate them and you will spend less money and get better results." His advice was taken and there is noticeable improvement among the Indians in portions of Mexico.

ARTHUR FINGAL DIED AT HOME IN CHICAGO

FORMER DIXON COLLEGE ATHLETE DIED SUDDENLY AT AGE OF 25 YEARS.

Arthur Fingal, a former Dixon college student and one of the best athletes ever produced by the college, died at the home of his parents, 5636 Drexel Ave., Chicago, July 28, after a short illness.

Arthur, better known as "Art," entered Dixon college in the winter of 1910 and for two years had charge of the gentlemen's dormitory. He was coach of the football and baseball teams for 1910-11-12-13 and under his coaching Dixon college enjoyed an excellent reputation in various sports. During Art's career the teams met some of the best college teams in Illinois, Wisconsin and Iowa. He was the best quarter back Dixon college ever had.

Art Fingal was 25 years old when he died. He was taken when at the very threshold of life, but he lived long enough to demonstrate that he was a fine specimen of manhood, ambitious, sincere, honest and open and above board. His untimely death is a great shock to his many friends in Dixon and they extend to his devoted family their heartfelt sympathy in their bereavement.

G COMPANY HONOR GUARD FOR FAMOUS RUSSIAN GENERAL

DIXON CO. IN BATTALION THAT ESCORTED GEN. ROOP TO ARSENAL.

RUSSIAN MADE HONORED GUEST

Inspects Federal Arsenal and is Banquet Guest—Appreciates U. S. Aid.

Rock Island Arsenal, July 28.

To the Dixon Evening Telegraph: Wednesday our battalion had the honor of escorting Lieut. Gen. Koop of the Russian army into camp as the guest of Col. Geo. W. Burr, commander of the ordnance corps, stationed here on the island.

We fell in line at 7:45 a. m. and after short battalion drill, commanded by Maj. Dunavin, were marched to the main gate, a mile and a half, to await the coming of the noted Russian soldier. We were not hurried, so had a half hour or more in the shade and were cooled off and feeling fine when the honored guest and his staff arrived.

The four or five autos conveying the party were modestly decorated with the Stars and Stripes and the Russian flag, red, white and blue bars, with the blue bar at the top and the red at the bottom.

Gen. Koop's uniform was made up of navy blue trousers, full length and without leggings, a light olive drab blouse and olive drab cap. On his breast he wore a single decoration, that of the Russian Legion of Honor, and the shoulders of his blouse were decorated with broad gold metal bands from collar to sleeve. His aide was similarly dressed.

After paying his respects to Old Glory, which waved proudly nearby, and reviewing the battalion, the party proceeded to arsenal headquarters, where he visited the arsenal shops and was shown the attractions of the island.

At noon he was the guest at lunch in Davenport, to which all officers on the island were invited. In the evening a fine banquet was given by Col. Burr in honor of Gen. Koop, at the Rock Island club rooms and was in ten courses. This was followed by toasts by Col. Burr, Gen. Koop, Maj. Dunavin, the Mayor of Rock Island and others. In his toast General Koop expressed a very favorable opinion of the United States and its appreciation of our interest in their part of the war. His talk was very brief.

GERMAN INSECURITY INCREASES

(Associated Press) Rotterdam, Netherlands, July 31—Insecurity is increasing in a disquieting manner in Germany and particularly in the country regions. Thefts of all kinds of foodstuffs and field produce occur frequently. The farm livestock in the meadows is safe no longer. Cattle, sheep and pigs are stolen, or slaughtered in the fields and the meat and hides carried off. Bands of watchmen are everywhere being formed out of the older male members of the population left at home. Members of such bands in turn go on guard, particularly at night, and are equipped with arms.

THIS IS RED CROSS WEEK AND THE RED CROSS NEEDS YOUR AID

This is Red Cross week, and unless the citizens of Dixon and Lee county take a bigger interest in that great cause this county will be behind in its quota of memberships when the week ends and the counties over the state are checked up for 1917-18.

Today Colonel Brinton, head of the Red Cross in this county, took a large number of membership tickets of the various factories in the city, and asked the managements of the various institutions to aid in organizing large Red Cross memberships. Over a hundred memberships have already been taken by the workers in the Grand Detour Plow Shops, which easily leads the county in this respect.

Every citizen of Dixon should become a member of the Red Cross without further delay. Do not wait to be solicited. Do your share now.

PETER DUFFY MADE MERCHANT POLICE

APPOINTED BY MAYOR SCHMIDT AND SWORN INTO OFFICE TODAY.

The city commissioners met in regular session this morning, and transacted what business came before them. The only important action the appointment of Peter Duffy as merchant policeman, which appointment was made by Mayor Schmidt on motion of Commissioner White on be.

Mayor Schmidt reported that the electric signalling device installed by the Illinois Central R. R. on North Galena avenue was in good working order, although the red light, which will be added as a further protection against night accidents, has not yet been installed. The same equipment will be installed on North Galena avenue shortly, it is stated.

The council allowed bills in the sum of $2636.87.

U-BOAT COMMANDERS DELIBERATELY MURDER

SHELL OPEN LIFEBOAT "JUST FOR THE FUN OF THE THING."

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

London, July 19—Correspondence—Eight men were killed and several wounded by the shelling of a German submarine of the life boats of the Elder Demster Steamer Addah, which was torpedoed on June 15, according to an official version of the affair. One boat was sunk by shrapnel fire from the submarine and the survivors were sprayed with shrapnel while they were in the water waiting for the other boats to pick them up.

The official narrative says that the submarine commander went along side one of the Addah's life boats and made use of her to send some of the crew of the submarine on board the Addah just before the steamer sunk. When the submarine's crew had returned to their craft, the officers in command of the life boat were ordered to move away from the submarine.

"By this time," the official statement reads, "the boat commanded by the captain of the Addah, which already was badly smashed by one of the shells from the submarine, was about three or four hundred yards away from the German craft."

"The submarine again opened fire on the captain's boat, killing eight men and taking the boat's stern off. Even after the boat had been sunk and the men were swimming in the water, the submarine shelled them with shrapnel. When the German captain thought he had finished everybody who was in the captain's boat, he then opened fire on the chief officers' boat, firing eight shrapnel. Fortunately nobody was killed, but only holding the boat, breaking the oars and wounding several men slightly."

"After this the commander waved to the chief officer to go over to the position where the captain and several other people were swimming and to pick them and the submarine then went on the surface."

SHERIFF PHILLIPS IN AUTO ACCIDENT

PEKIN PAPER TELLS OF SMASH-UP THE SHERIFF'S FIGURED IN.

The Pekin Journal tells of an auto accident in which R. R. Phillips, Lee county, who was in Pekin last week attending the sheriff's convention, figured. It says:

Four or five sheriffs who left for home last evening failed to make connections as the result of auto accident near Hollis.

The party included Abner McCoy, Sheriff Wilson, R. R. Phillips of Dixon, G. M. Brown of Cambridge and G. M. School of Joliet, being driven in McCoy's car to Peoria to take trains for home. They discovered a Ford approaching at a narrow place in the road and hurried ahead to find a spot

French and British Barrage Fire Cuts Path for Infantry Advance—Retake Villages.

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

British Front in France, July 31—Three lines of the German trenches in Flanders have been captured by British forces. The most of the points stormed were near Warneton.

The British Front in France, July 31—By the Associated Press—The entente allied forces which began an offensive this morning, have advanced well beyond the shattered front of the German first line trenches. In many places they are at the second line of defenses on a 20-mile front of attack.

According to early reports the British and French troops went into battle under cover of perhaps the greatest barrage fire seen during the war. The entente artillery is moving forward and the situation is very satisfactory.

Between Dixmude and Boesunghe, the attackers reported they secured two first line trenches after fighting the most difficult terrain imaginable. The British have again captured LaBasse villa, recently relinquished to the Germans.

The British and French forces are facing a large concentration of German artillery and fresh troops.

The entente forces have established complete air superiority and military authorities say the morale of the German soldiers is not up to their standard.

to permit the Ford to pass. McCoy pulled to the side of the road and stopped but the Ford driver evidently lacked experience and rammed into McCoy's car. Both cars were damaged and the delay made it impossible for the sheriffs to reach Peoria in time to catch their trains but Messrs. Brown and Schell went on to Peoria to take a later train. Sheriff Phillips will leave this evening for Dixon over the Northwestern.

WILSON VICTOR IN FOOD FIGHT

Herbert C. Hoover Will Be Sole Supply Director.

SENATORS WON OVER, 4 to 3

House Plan Is Upheld in Conference.
President Also Keeps Up Hostility to Create Congressional "Smelling"
Committee on Expenses of War.
Veto Strongly Hinted.

Washington, July 31.—Conferees on the food bill agreed to President Wilson's demand for one food administrator instead of a board of three as proposed by the senate. The individual administrator will not be subject to confirmation. The senate conferees accepted the house provision. Chamberlain, Smith of South Carolina, Kenyon and Warren so voting. Gore, Smith of Georgia and Page stood out for a three member board.

President Forces Conferees to Yield.
The conferees yielded on the Hoover proposal only after President Wilson declared again his opposition to amendments providing for an administrative board of three instead of one and for the creation of a congressional committee on expenditures in the conduct of the war.

The President's position was made clear by Senator Chamberlain, one of the conferees on the bill. The President considers the committee on conduct of the war a reflection on himself and insists that there can be no question of the greater value of an individual food administrator over an administrative board of three.

Senator Chamberlain left the white house convinced that unless the conferees eliminated those provisions the bill must go back to the senate and house for further action. The possibility that the President might veto the measure if they were left in it was widely discussed in congress.

No Intimation Given Senator.
The President, however, it was said, gave no intimation to Senator Chamberlain that he was so strongly opposed to the provisions as to veto the bill.

Debate on the national prohibition constitutional amendment began in the senate under an agreement for a vote Wednesday.

LEMONS BRING OUT THE HIDDEN BEAUTY

Make this lotion for very little cost and just see for yourself.

What girl or woman hasn't heard of lemon juice to remove complexion blemishes; to bleach the skin and to bring out the roses, the freshness and the hidden beauty? But lemon juice alone is acid, therefore irritating, and should be mixed with orchard white this way. Strain through a fine cloth the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing about three ounces of orchard white, then shake well and you have a whole quart of skin and complexion lotion at about the cost one usually pays for a small jar of ordinary cold cream. Be sure to strain the lemon juice so no pulp gets into the bottle, then this lotion will remain pure and fresh for months. When applied daily to the face, neck, arms and hands it should help to bleach, clear, smoothen and beautify the skin.

Any druggist will supply three ounces of orchard white at very little cost and the grocer has the lemons.

A GREAT MEDICINE
That most successful of all remedies for woman's ailments Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, owes its origin to a botanic recipe which came into the possession of Lydia E. Pinkham about fifty years ago.

This recipe had proved so effective in the practice of a skilled physician that Mrs. Pinkham procured the herbs and steeped and prepared them in true old-time fashion on her kitchen stove for her friends and neighbors who suffered from woman's ailments. The fame of the virtues of this wonderful medicine spread, until it is today recognized as the standard remedy for woman's ills.

Can for Uncle Sam

Canning Units under strict military discipline are the first real signs of the mobilization of women for war service in Illinois. "Can for Uncle Sam"—that is the appeal sent out by Mrs. Raymond Robins, chairman of the committee on Women and Children in Industry of the Woman's Committee of the Council of National Defense.

"Farmers everywhere," said Mrs. Robins, "were urged to increase their production this year and every where they report that they cannot get labor. In the middle western states, food production has increased this year 293 per cent; these crops must not go to waste. This is a work women can do and we are urging them to start at once."

Mrs. Robins has started out to organize units of fifty or more girls who will go out to canneries or farms wherever they are needed to help preserve the quantities of fresh vegetables which are now ripe and the crops which must be harvested.

The girls will enlist for a certain length of time, none less than three weeks, and the service will be considered in the light of a military obligation. Each unit will have a supervisor who will have full authority over the girls and will look out for their living and working conditions. A cook from the School of Domestic Science will accompany each unit.

Mrs. Robins is appealing to the girls engaged in sewing and other dull trades to join the units as a patriotic service. This plan has been tried in Maryland with great success. For some time there has been agricultural enlistment for men, but it is not sufficient. Mr. B. D. Butler, publisher of the "Prairie Farmer", says he could place 5,000 women on farms at once. A letter has been sent by Mrs. Robins to every canner in Illinois, asking them how many women they need, the wages they are willing to pay and the hours of work. On receipt of replies to this letter, Mrs. Robins will send out her units. She is also hoping to enlist many women who are now living on farms and yet have no definite work. The same unit plan will be used for organizing women to help in harvesting the crops, in haying and cornhusking.

GETTING DOWN TO BUSINESS.

Now we're getting down to business.

The appropriations committee of the senate has received the detailed estimate of the money needed at once to carry out the plans of the war department.

It is the "inside" of the $5,000,000,000 demand made the other day by Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo upon Senator Simmons' committee just as that committee was about to put in its report and which has caused a revision of the whole scheme.

Hereafter in America we are to talk not "millions" for defense but "billions" and it is high time we came to a sense of what proper protection of our country means.

The big sum called for in this latest demand upon congress is largely to prepare our coast defenses with guns never before dreamed of in size and number.

It also means an immense fleet of anti-aircraft guns.

In addition all items are based upon an army of a million men.

This is only the army program.

The navy's demands will come later and will include first of all a fleet of submarines larger and better equipped than those of any other country. The purpose of this stupendous preparedness is to ward off possible attack by a hostile fleet either of ships or aircraft.

The program is warranted when we come to realize that the only thing that has stood between us and conquering Prussian autocracy was the British fleet and the French army.

WHAT "CAMOUFLAGE" MEANS.

Doubtless you have seen the word "camouflage" used in the newspapers a great deal lately. It is a French word and means the same as our own phrase "throwing dust in one's eyes."

Literally speaking, "camouflage" is a trick of optical illusion by means of which the movement troops and location of batteries and ammunition depots are screened from the enemy.

So successfully has the art of camouflage been applied that hundreds of French artists are fighting for their country with paint brushes and pots.

They have painted streets on canvas which formed a screen behind which troops are moved.

Roads, houses, horses and cows have been faked to conceal important positions from the enemy.

"Camouflage" when applied to the field of speech and employed by well known political orators is better recognized by the term "bushwa."

THE "RETURN GOODS" REFORM

In response to the call of the commercial economy board of the council of national defense at Washington, many New York merchants have abolished the return goods evil so far as they are able.

The following rule has been adopted:

"No goods will be received for credit or exchange that are not offered us within seven days from receipt. This rule does not apply to merchandise that is sold on strictly non-returnable basis for sanitary or other reasons."

Only the merchants know the length to which the return goods practice has gone and they seem to be as anxious as the government to get rid of the nuisance.

MAYOR MITCHELL A SHINING LIGHT.

It is a fortunate thing for the country at large to witness the refusal of New York City political parties to re-elect Mayor Mitchell over a Tammany candidate.

Theodore Roosevelt declares that Mitchell has made the best mayor of New York within his recollection and that he has been "honest, courageous and progressive."

The good men of all parties in New York should join the Mitchell forces and continue this splendid executive in office.

An administration such as he has given the metropolis of this country is a shining light in a darkness of municipal mismanagement.

THE NEWEST ECONOMIST.

A new master economist has appeared on the horizon.

Doubtless you read several days ago the warning of the Standard Oil company to cut out joy riding and save the gasoline of the country for war.

The civilized word is pinning a great deal of faith on the Russian Premier, Kerensky.

Those strikers in Chicago and elsewhere are not taking a very patriotic action.

There seems to be a great movement of undress going over this country.

THE HILLMAN
By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I—On a trip through the English Cumberland country the breakdown of her automobile forces Louise Maurel, a famous London actress, to spend the night at the farm home of John and Stephen Stangeway.

CHAPTER II—At dinner Louise discovers that the brothers are woman-hating recluses.

CHAPTER VI—He finds Louise engaged in the rehearsal of a new play, meets her friends and is entertained at luncheon with her by the prince.

CHAPTER VII—John drives Sophie home and she gives him friendly advice about love and life in London. The prince and Louise postpone a little journey they had arranged for.

CHAPTER X—The prince introduces a relative, Lady Hyde, to John, stating that she may be of use to him in his "education" of John.

CHAPTER XI—At Sevre House John is introduced to a celebrated dancer, Calavera, who at once starts a violent flirtation with him. At supper the prince tells Calavera that enmity for John has caused him to employ her to ruin him.

CHAPTER XV—Dining with Sophie, Louise and the prince appear in the restaurant to the surprise of John, whom Louise had told she would be out of town for the weekend. He attends the first night of the new play and at the climax is so shocked that he leaves the house. Sophie follows and brings him back to the after-theater supper.

CHAPTER XVI—Stephen Stangeway comes to London to see the new play.

CHAPTER XVII—Calavera dances for the supper party and afterward entices John to her, but he leaves her and the house.

CHAPTER XVIII—John tells Louise that he came to London for her and for her alone. Louise pleads for time.

CHAPTER XIV—Graillet inadvertently plants suspicion in John's mind. Lady Hyde calls upon him in his rooms and attempts flirtation with him, her talk of Louise and the prince further increasing his awakened jealousy.

CHAPTER XIX.

John came back to town from his Cumberland home, telling himself that all had gone as well as he had expected. He had done his duty. He had told Stephen his news, and they had parted friends. Yet all the time he was conscious of an undercurrent of disconcerting thoughts.

Louise met him at the station, and he fancied that her expression, too, although she welcomed him gaily enough, was a little anxious.

"Well?" she asked, as she took his arm and led him to where her limousine was waiting. "What did that terrible brother of yours say?"

John made a little grimace. "It might have been worse," he declared. "Stephen wasn't pleased, of course. He hates women like poison, and he always will. That is because he will insist upon dwelling upon certain unhappy incidents of our family history."

"I shall never forget the morning he came to call on me," Louise sighed. "He threatened all sorts of terrible things if I did not give you up."

"Why didn't you tell me about it?" John asked.

"I thought it might worry you," she replied. "and it couldn't do any good. He believed he was doing his duty. John, you are sure about yourself, aren't you?"

"He was a little startled by the earnestness of her words. She seemed pale and fragile, her eyes larger and deeper than usual, and her mouth tremulous. She was like a child with the shadow of some fear hanging over her. He laughed and held her tightly to him."

Her lips sought his and clung to them. A queer little wave of passion seemed to have seized her. Half crying, half laughing, she pressed her face against his. "I do not want to act tonight. I do not want to play, even to the most wonderful audience in the world. I do not want to shake hands with many hundreds of people at that hateful reception. I think I want nothing else in the world but you!"

She lay, for a moment, passive in his arms. He smoothed her hair and kissed her tenderly. Then he led her back to her place upon the couch. Her emotional mood, while it flattered him in a sense, did nothing to quiet the little demons of unrest that pulled, every now and then, at his heart-strings.

"What is this reception?" he asked. She made a little grimace.

"It is a formal welcome from the English stage to the French company that has come over to play at the new French theater," she told him. "Sir Edward and I are to receive them. You will come, will you not? I am the hostess of the evening."

"Then I am not likely to refuse, am I?" he asked, smiling. "Shall I come to the theater?"

"Come straight to the reception at the Whitehall rooms," she begged. "Sir Edward is calling for me, and Graillet will go down with us. Later, if you care to, you can drive me home."

"Don't you think," he suggested, "that it would be rather a good opportunity to announce our engagement?"

"Not tonight," she pleaded. "You know, I cannot seem to believe myself except when I am with you and we are alone. It seems too wonderful after all these years. Do you know, John, that I am nearly thirty?"

He laughed. "How pathetic! All the more reason, I should say, why we should let people know about it as soon as possible."

"There is no particular hurry," she said, a little nervously. "Let me get used to it myself. I don't think you will have to wait long. Everything I have been used to doing and thinking seems to be crumbling up around me. Last night I even hated my work, or at least part of it."

His eyes lit up with genuine pleasure.

"I can't tell you how glad I am to hear you say that," he declared. "I don't hate your work—I've got over that. I don't think I am narrow about it. I admire Graillet, and his play is wonderful. But I think, and I always shall think, that the denouement in that third act is abominable!"

She nodded understandingly. "I am beginning to realize how you must feel," she confessed. "We won't talk about it any more now. Drive me to the theater, will you? I want to be there early tonight, just to get everything ready for changing afterward."

The reception in honor of the little company of French tragedians, at which almost the whole of the English stage and a sprinkling of society people were present, was a complete success. Louise made a charming hostess, and Sir Edward more than ever justified his reputation for saying the right thing to the right person at the right moment. The rooms were crowded with throngs of distinguished people, who all seemed to have plenty to say to one another.

The only person, perhaps, who found himself curiously ill at ease was John. He heard nothing but French on all sides of him—a language which he read with some facility, but which he spoke like a schoolboy. He had been wandering about for more than an hour before Louise discovered him. She at once left her place and crossed the room to where he was standing by the wall.

"Cheer up!" she begged, with a delightful smile. "I am afraid that you are being bored to death. Will you not come and be presented to our guests?"

"For goodness' sake, no!" John implored. "I have never seen one of them act, and my French is appalling. I am all right, dear. It's quite enough pleasure to see you looking so beautiful, and to think that I am going to be allowed to drive you home afterward."

Louise looked into a neighboring mirror, and gazed critically at her own reflected image. She had a curious feeling that at that precise moment she had reached the zenith of her power and her charm. Her audience at the theater had been wonderfully sympathetic, had responded with rare appreciation to every turn of her voice, to every movement and gesture. The compliments, too, which she had been receiving from the crowds who had bent over her fingers that night had been no idle words.

She was conscious, acutely conscious, of the atmosphere she had created around her. She was glowing in the subtle outward signs of it. She was in love with herself; in love, too, with this delightful new feeling of loving. It would have given her more joy than anything else in the world, in that moment of her triumph, to have passed her arm through John's, to have led him up to them all, and to have said:

For almost 30 years he has educated birds and animals and today presents the best entertainment of its kind ever given in America. A bird carries an American flag across the stage, keeping correct time; a number of birds are seated in a Ferris wheel while another bird turns the wheel; a bird sits in a baby cab while one wheels it about the stage, another upshes a merry-go-round on which a number of birds ride; another plays a miniature organ. The feature is a miniature scene from the Spanish-American war. During the battle the birds fire cannons and when the fort bursts into flame the fire company responds, raises ladders, turns over a tank and extinguishes the fire. Then comes the victory. The Spanish flag is hauled down and the American flag is run up.

The company, which has since recruited up to minimum strength, expects to be called to Springfield by Monday for drill and equipment.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cooper are the parents of a baby daughter, born July 26.

The Orioles play at Aurora Sunday. Aurora has a team that has been playing all open games of the city league of Chicago.

Last Sunday's game failed to materialize. The Dubuque White Sox who were motoring thru, lost their way and failed to show up so the management with the first sprinkle of rain, issued rain checks.

Forrest Paddock, the fast local boy who has been hurling the Orioles to victory this season, has joined Co. A, 3rd Ill. Inf. and next Sunday will be his last game on the diamond. He was caught in the draft and decided to go with the home boys in the crack De Kalb Company.

CHAUTAUQUA NOTES

The Assembly needs cooler weather. The heat is so intense people will venture out however good a program. Grandpa George Reedy is about the happiest man in the park, going about praising his grandchild, who is just a week old. The father of this remarkable child is a former Dixon young man, Arvine Lord.

No accidents thus far at the bathing beach. It is hoped the record will be perfect during the entire season. Many campers anticipate pleasure over the Water Sports day at the Assembly beach on next Saturday afternoon.

Dr. Dornblaser, who lectured this afternoon and who will address the bible conference Wednesday morning is kept busy greeting old friends on the grounds.

If the weather is good Taft day next Sunday will bring thousands to the grounds.

The ice man is very busy here. Water melons are selling fast. Many people attend the sunset service at 6:45 on evening. The services are held on the river bank. When will the grounds be fixed up for the croquet fans? Vera Thome is a guest of Mrs. A. E. Phillips family. Major Tourtellott, chief policeman of the Assembly, reports everything quiet on the river bank.

No weampers are coming in every day. Many of the cities and towns adjacent to Dixon have representatives in the park.

The platform decorations and flags are exceedingly pretty this year. Harry Byers and Frank Glessner and families of South Dixon are camping this year.

Rev. W. F. Rex and wife of Freeport arrived yesterday. The former had charge of the devotional services yesterday morning.

Dr. Frank Dornblaser and wife motored from Amboy Sunday and visited the Assembly.

PUBLIC SALE
— OF —
CHOICE LEE COUNTY FARM

To be sold at Public Auction on the premises on Wednesday, August 8, 1917
Sale to begin at 2:00 o'clock p. m. their

This is one of the choicest farms in the garden spot of Illinois. It is located 2 1/2 miles from Franklin Grove, which is 86 miles west of Chicago, on the main line of the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad. Close to market, school and church. There is a hard road past this farm and it is considered by everyone who sees the place, an ideal farm. Every foot of the 360 acres under cultivation and all tilled. This was the home of Samuel Dysart, one of the most prominent men in this district and a man of exceptional good judgment.

The improvements are excellent. The fine, large, commodious residence, which is shown on this poster, gives one an idea of the substantial manner in which Mr. Dysart built for the future. There are extensive barns, corn cribs and other needed buildings for the proper care of the crops on a farm of this size. Fine shrubbery about the house and everything which would make this place one greatly to be desired by the farmer, and the housewife as well. The situation of this property is such that it can be sold in separate pieces and each would make a desirable farm. The soil is very productive and the best of crops are grown on this farm.

In offering this farm at public auction it will be put up in tracts to suit the purchasers and also as a whole. The way it brings the most money in the manner in which it will be sold.

TERMS OF SALE:—Ten per cent of the purchase price will be required on the day of sale in the form of a bankable note. Said note to be without interest and payable on March 1st, 1918, when complete settlement will be made, deed and abstract furnished and possession given.

Energy of Tides.

The net electric energy to be derived from the British tides is placed by Prof. David Robertson at about 10,000 kilowatts per square mile for a double tide of 31.5 feet and 500 kilowatts for a tide of 7 feet. Places offering a large enclosed area with a comparatively short dam are the promising ones for tidal utilization and the British channel seems by far the most advantageous situation in the British Isles, with the Firth of Clyde next.

London and Washington Take Same View of Statements Issuing from Berlin and Vienna—Teuton Capitals Evidently Acted in Concert on Latest Speeches on Ending War.

London, July 31.—Statements by Dr. Michaelis, German imperial chancellor, and Count Czernin, the Austro-Hungarian foreign minister, which are regarded here as obviously made in collusion, dominate the news columns of the morning papers. They are generally treated editorially as a sign of weakness, while the absence of reference to the future of Belgium and Serbia is considered to exclude all credence in the desire for peace by understanding.

Austro-German peace talk unless accompanied by an undertaking to evacuate and restore conquered territories is declared merely to be aimed at delaying America's preparations for war. Insist on Reply to Michaelis.

Accusations by Herr Michaelis against France are dismissed by some commentators as best left for refutation by French allies, but discussed by others, one of which says the story is too thin even for the Germans to believe.

Peace Mere Talking Point.

Washington, July 31.—Renewed avowals of a readiness to make peace from Berlin and Vienna are declared by high officials here to be aimed to bolster up public opinion at home, to stimulate pacifist elements in neutral and enemy countries and to break up, if possible, the solidarity of the allies.

The fact that they have been put forth simultaneously with the ending of the third year of the war and at the close of another successful drive by Germany against Russia follows past German custom so closely as to warrant officials here in saying that they have expected such a move by the new German chancellor Michaelis. They point out that in comparison with the best efforts of former Chancellor Hollweg, Chancellor Michaelis offers no new concessions to the enemies of Germany and makes no promises.

Michaelis' Job to Get Peace.

Officials here regard it as Michaelis' job to get peace for Germany, if possible. They do not minimize the fact that Germany wants peace, but they do point out that the dominant element in Germany responsible for Michaelis is the military regime and that the kind of a peace Michaelis stands for is the kind to be dictated by militarists.

It is believed here that the attitude of Austria and of the clericals in Germany has forced the German military government to make strenuous overtures for peace, and that if this combination does not get peace the reichstag again will use its power felt by forcing further concessions from the military government.

Housewives Urged by Government to Start Canning.

Washington, July 31.—Sweltering heat, reported from coast to coast, is endangering America's perishable foodstuffs.

The department of agriculture issued a warning through the press that the housewife must buy and can quickly or vast quantities of edibles will be beyond recall.

"Buy up all surplus and can it and dry it at once," the department urged the women folks. "This hot weather makes immediate action absolutely necessary." The government weather bureau received temperature reports from all parts of the country ranging from 90 to 100 degrees.
